Key Questions

- What is the feasibility of developing a sports facility in Williamson County in order accommodate local and tournament play?
- What is the current supply of local and regional sports facilities in and around Williamson County? Are there gaps in the current supply or gaps in the quality of fields, courts and other sports facilities?
- What current and future market demand is likely for local, regional and tournament-based sports in Williamson County?
- What is the likelihood of attracting/securing tournaments in Williamson County? What trends may impact opportunities?
- Where are comparable facilities and what can be learned from these facilities?

Key Questions

- What other developments in the area? How do they impact Williamson County's project?
- What impact will the hotel market and hospitality package have on a new sports facility development?
- What scenarios are proposed?
- How will the proposed facility perform? How could it be governed for highest positive impact on the community?

Headlines

- There is more demand than supply of sports facilities throughout Williamson County.
- There are almost no sports tournaments held in Williamson County despite a large opportunity.
- A phased outdoor sports complex should be developed in Williamson County.
- An indoor sports complex is demanded by the market.
- Numerous sports (soccer, rugby, and lacrosse), as well as hockey, basketball, volleyball and baseball have a need for facility space in Williamson County.
- Location of the indoor and outdoor sport complexes will be important.

Headlines

- A-Game's situation has a big impact on the supply of basketball and volleyball venues. Additionally, it would be expensive and unlikely to have hockey at A-Game again.
- Funding and location are always critical challenges and should be studied in a next phase.
- Adept management/operator and local sport organizations are key to operating a successful new development.
- Recommended tournament level facility/complex will attract state, regional, and likely national events (if large enough and high enough quality).

Headlines

- Williamson County has key factors in its favor including:
 - A central, drivable location
 - Existing base of hotel rooms nearby
 - Favorable climate, longer season than northern competitors
- Williamson County's hotel market is healthy and benefiting from Nashville.
- Hotel rates in Williamson County are strong but still provide an opportunity to capitalize on tournament market as they are affordable on weekends.

PROJECT OVERVIEW

Project Overview

- Williamson County has grown to be a popular destination for youth/amateur sports teams and events both regionally and nationally.
- However, in early 2016, the privately-owned A-Game Sportsplex closed. Due to the closure, the County lost six courts and two sheets of ice.
- The impacts from the closure were immediately felt by indoor programs and the County.

LOCAL SPORTS FACILITY ASSESSMENT

Local Sports Facility Supply Map

- Mix between city and county managed parks.
- Majority of facilities are in Franklin or Brentwood.
- Thompson Station, Nolensville, and Fairview are lacking in supply.
- Jim Warren Park, Williamson County Soccer Complex and Crockett Park are a few of the largest facilities in the county.

Local Supply Implications

- Despite a decent supply of baseball and soccer fields, scheduling playing time is difficult and tournament play is virtually impossible.
- Population growth has lead to inevitable demand growth for youth sports.
- A-Game closing has resulted in an extremely low supply of basketball, hockey and volleyball facilities.
- If A-Game re-opens, outdoor sports (soccer, baseball/softball) have greatest need for additional space. Lack of space limits the number of teams and number of tournaments.

REGIONAL & STATE SPORTS FACILITIES

Williamson County Regional Sports Facilities

- Williamson County's location relative to other locations in region is attractive to event organizers.
- Premier outdoor facilities exist to the north; however, Williamson County offers a more favorable season.
- A majority of regional indoor facilities accommodate local and regional demand. There is also a lack of a premier indoor facility throughout region.

Regional Supply Implications

- Regionally, some premier facilities exist for both indoor and outdoor sports, but Williamson County has the opportunity to capture regional, state, and national tournaments.
- Williamson County's access to/from Nashville and location within central Tennessee and the nation makes it an ideal location for tournament organizations.
- If the recommended facility is developed, it would be the premier facility in the Midwest, outside of Grand Park in Westfield.

CURRENT & FUTURE LIKELY MARKET DEMAND FOR LOCAL, REGIONAL & TOURNAMENT-BASED SPORTS

Basketball

- Basketball demand has outgrown current supply and is in need of facility space. However, re-opening A-game would satisfy majority of demand.
- Williamson County has ability to host large regional and national tournaments for indoor sports with a new indoor facility or re-opening A-Game.
- Programs are interested in partnering with county on a new indoor facility or with ownership of A-Game facility

Volleyball

- Volleyball programs have created unaccommodated demand after A-Game closure. Again, A-Game re-opening would satisfy demand.
- Local programs are interested in partnering with County on a new indoor facility or with ownership of A-Game facility.
- Williamson County has the ability to attract and retain large volleyball tournaments at a new facility or the A-Game facility.

Swimming

- Demand for pools in Williamson County is high; no high schools offer pools. All swimming programs are competing for pool time.
- Tournaments are turned down due to a lack of facility time.

Tennis

- Williamson County tennis courts are not tournament quality. Demand far exceeds supply of facilities.
- Many Williamson County tennis players are leaving the County for tennis needs.

Baseball / Softball

- Local baseball/softball demand can support additional facilities; a majority of participation comes from residents living within Williamson County; however organizations are utilizing fields outside of the County.
- Williamson County has the ability to host baseball/softball tournaments every weekend from April through July.
- Local and regional clubs have expressed interest in programming tournaments in Williamson County at a new facility.

Tennessee Secondary School Athletic Association

- Currently programming the wrestling state championship at Ag Expo Park in Williamson County. Have no plans to leave.
- Interested in Williamson County, due to its central location. Raised concerns about hotel rates.
- Football, basketball and Spring Fling (baseball, softball, tennis, track, and boys soccer) bid out – Spring Fling up for bid after 2017 season.

Soccer

- Soccer demand is strong and can support additional multipurpose fields.
- Field closures have been a big issue in recent years due to overuse of fields
- State and national associations are interested in programming tournaments in Williamson County.
- Local clubs and state associations have expressed interest in partnering with City on a multipurpose development

Williamson Inc.

- Chamber of Commerce has about 100 meetings and events per year, ranging from 250 to 800 people.
- Major need for a sports athletic facility, as multiple schools have been built – three new schools built in 2016.
- Financing would require both private and public support. Suggests taking a percentage of hotel/motel tax that is going to general fund and allocate it to project.

Thompson Station

- City is interested in a big sports complex at one location in Thompson Station.
- Thompson Station has great access and large number of green spaces that can be developed. No hotels in Thompson Station currently.
- City is interested in project but it needs to be master planned, and sewer and interchange improvements would be needed.

Franklin

- Sports athletic complex is needed in county, especially after A-Game closure.
- High local demand has caused maintenance issues with fields and diamonds – from just baseball, softball and soccer.
- Very strong baseball, softball, basketball and volleyball programs in county.
- City feels a shortage of diamonds exist, while county feels a shortage of multipurpose fields exist in Williamson County.

Brentwood

- A strong demand for additional sports facilities exists in county. Recreation is a large component.
- Brentwood has turned down tournament organizers because facilities would be unavailable to residents during tournaments.
- Brentwood requires that a percentage of sport participation be from Brentwood for facility use.

Demand Implications

- Cities within County are supportive of a sports facility in Williamson County.
- Community parks are for local rentals and parks and rec. Some out of town rentals occurring. Many local groups cannot find space for practice, games, etc.
- Soccer, baseball, softball, basketball and volleyball have programmed tournaments but have reached capacity. Growth and additional tournaments can only come with additional facilities.
- State associations, event organizers and local users are interested in bringing tournaments to Williamson County. Additionally, they are interested in being partners with any development.
- Williamson County's location is attractive to many tournament organizers.

- Greatest opportunities in Williamson County are for soccer, baseball, softball, basketball, hockey and volleyball facilities.
- However, other sports growing quickly: rugby and lacrosse.

Tournament Market Overview

- Tournament market is getting more competitive as events become more regionalized and more facilities open.
- Organizers are selecting one-site venues with close proximity to hotels, restaurants, retail and entertainment.
- Successful facilities are programming tournaments and events almost every weekend, while local use (practices, games, leagues) fill up weekdays.
- Tenants/user groups are key to baseline of support and establishing a credible reputation.
- Higher levels of tournament competition attracts greater interest from out-of-state teams.

Tournament Market Implications

- It is possible to attract regional and national events to Williamson County.
- Local and state organizations would likely relocate tournaments and/or create new events in Williamson County.
- Local and state organizations expressed possibility/interest in partnering/financing a new facility.
- Location within Tennessee and nation is attractive to tournament organizers for all sports.

- Comparable facilities show spectrum of facilities that are established, reaching stabilization and recently opened.

Case Studies – Summary

- National Sports Center – 600-acre indoor/outdoor complex that sees 4.25 million visitors per year.
- Maryland Soccerplex/Discovery Sports Center – 162-acre indoor/outdoor complex that had more than 650,000 visitors in 2015 – 95 percent of weekends are booked with events each year.
- Sports Village USA / Fieldhouse USA – 144,000SF facility that sees 1.5 million visitors, more than 31 tournaments and 25,000 participants per year that has generate more than 62,000 room nights since opening (2009).
- Grand Park – 400-acre complex that had more than 1.8 million visitors in 2016, primarily tournament use with minimal local use. Generated nearly 62,000 room nights in Hamilton County in 2015.

Case Studies – Overview

- Facilities are “category killers” focusing on one sport. Fewer large-scale multi-sport facilities due to space and budget constraints.
- Facilities partnering with national governing bodies to secure regional and national events annually (i.e. Disney with AAU).
- Facilities are typically permanent host sites (compared to rotational sites).
- Majority of facilities are owned publicly and managed by established local user groups.

WHAT ARE OTHER DEVELOPMENTS IN THE AREA? HOW

- Looking to become a U.S. Olympic certified complex to program Olympic training.
- Multipurpose fields will be programmed for all foot-sports.
- Interested in speaking to Williamson County first about development – currently speaking to Metro Nashville.

U.S. Rugby & Sports Complex

- Tennessee Rugby Foundation is working to develop a U.S. Rugby and Sports Complex in middle Tennessee.
- Complex will need 100-120 acres. Complex will be open for all sports, rugby will be allocated a certain percentage of usage at complex.
- Management model has not been determined, open to listening to local users and/or sports groups about management options.
- Projected to move international rugby tournaments to facility that will bring 85,000 people worldwide.
- Interested in a public-private partnership for complex.

HOTEL & HOSPITALITY MARKET

Williamson County Competitive Set Map

- Primarily located along I-65 in Franklin and Brentwood.
- Large concentration of hotels around Cool Springs Galleria.
- No hotels in Nolensville, Fairview and Thompson Station.

Restaurant Node Summary

- Nearly 500 restaurants in Williamson County.
- 82 percent of restaurants are in Franklin & Brentwood.
- Only three restaurants in Thompson Station, and facility would use hospitality package in Franklin or Brentwood.

Hotel & Hospitality Market Implications

- Majority of hotels are located in Franklin and Brentwood.
- Occupancy and ADR are healthy but provide opportunity for Williamson County to appeal to youth sports market.
- Hotel market in Williamson County benefits from the high rates in Nashville.
- Summer is a busy travel season generally, but not sold out. Room for tournaments to block rooms before leisure travelers book. Will compress rates up for leisure.
- July through September are lowest cost months for rooms during season, which teams prefer.

Hotel & Hospitality Market Implications

- Sports event organizers want hotel properties that offer breakfast options, meeting/event space for team functions and double-bed rooms. Hampton Inn with free breakfast and similar brands are preferred.
- Proximity to other attractions and entertainment is critical for events to partner with, provide options for visitors.
- Majority of restaurants are in Franklin and Brentwood
- Thompson Station lacks the hotel and hospitality package needed for tournament organizers.
